

UPL Shanghai Ltd. Partners with 191 for Grape Farmers of China

UPL Shanghai Ltd. Understands the responsibility we need to take about the wholesome agriculture development of the region & with this thought we decided to do something about the major problems in grape farming. The thought of addressing the major problems in Grape farming came after we came across the problems of increasing Fungicide resistance, Increased pest pressure due to the increase of the growing acreage today. This is when we decided to partner with 191 a very popular online site for connecting throughout china in an effort of resolving these issues. In this forum 8-11th January 2019 we discussed about managing fungicides Resistance, the major pests & diseases along with the entire process of grape farming and how to improve grapes quality along with the yield. In this 3-day forum we not only imparted training on managing farm but also gave hands on experience by visiting a successful farm and creating interactions with various successful big growers. This forum was a success with many major growers joining the forum and people connecting with the online discussions. Some of the pictures are attached here for perusal-
